Our Goal: To provide a quality educational opportunity to rehabilitation professionals that spans the continuum as it relates to the diversity of settings and the past, present and future of Rehabilitation Nursing.

Objectives: Discuss principles for designing a safer healthcare system among patient populations at risk for medical errors
 Understand the importance of maintaining professional passion in order to avoid burnout and provide quality services to those we serve
 Identify aging with a disability issues affecting driving a personal vehicle & a plan of action to assist in maintaining independence in driving
 Explain the role of task practice & identify key components in brain reorganization
 Identify strategies to maximize our patients' potential
 Identify typical reactions to stress, characteristics of relaxation & benefits of meditation to include the relationships between brain anatomy and meditation
 Discuss new approaches to neuro rehab, advances in wound management and in management of burns across the continuum of care
